The age of consent in Nevada is 16. This means that a person must be at least 16 years old to legally engage in consensual sexual activity. However, there are some exceptions. For example, if a person is at least 14 years old and the other person is at least 4 years older than they are, they can engage in consensual sexual activity. This is known as the "Romeo and Juliet" exception. In Nevada, this means that a 16-year-old can have sex with a 20-year-old, a 17-year-old can have sex with a 21-year-old, and a 18-year-old can have sex with a 22-year-old. However, if the age difference is more than 4 years, it is illegal. For example, a 16-year-old cannot have sex with a 21-year-old, and a 17-year-old cannot have sex with a 22-year-old. It is important to understand the laws in your state to avoid legal trouble. If you have any questions, please contact a lawyer for more information.
